Metal Poison.

I am a coppersmith by trade, and the small particles of brass and copper from filing got into sores on my arms and poisoned my whole system. Mercury administered brought on rheumathm, and I became a helpless invalid. I took two dozen bottles of swift's Specific. My legs, arms, and hanks are all right again. I use them without pain. CARDS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

A Revenue from the Waste Pasteboard -Some Characteristic Signatures. One of the sources of revenue of the govent comes from the white house. the last three weeks over 6,000 people have ontributed to it by sending their card to the President. Every statesman who sends his pasteboard to Mr. Cleveland sometimes gives the government more than he gets. His eard is worth just .0005. When a card is sent to the President the doorkeeper at the head of the steps regards it ele is sent to the President the doorkeeper at the head of the steps regards it closely, sizes up the sender, as it were, and takes it in to the President. When the latter has looked at it the doorkeeper takes it back to his desk in the hall, and leaves it there for inspection by reporters.

At night the cards are done up in a bundle and put away. At the end of a month these packages are taken to the cellar and added to the waste paper collection. Then the whole is sold. During May the waste paper brought in over $50. The card portion was worth nearly a half dollar. An official who examines them every day sums up the number of callers and the cards as follows:

"There were 6,000 cards. Every variety made, from the paper provided by the government to the gilt edge, was represented. Of the 6,000 the plurality, or 700, came from New York state. Every state and twelve foreign countries contributed. The largest number of cards received in one day was 207, on March 25. There were over 350 names written on these cards, and the largest number of names on one card was seven. That came from Missouri. The second week of President Cleveland's administration was what swelled the card collection, for we took in 750, excluding Sunday. Most of the cards were printed, some were written in pencil and lak. The styles of penmanship covered every system laught, and the writing and authography of some were very bad. One that came from a Boston merchant had written on the back of the card, 'Want to see the President on maters of official bisness.'

"It is not always the rural or illiterate of fleeseckers that the bad penmanship comes from. Some well-known men are very poor peumen. George William Curtis writes a straggling hand, and it cannot always be read. Its like all editor's penmanship, "Henry Ward Beecher nearly always has bis cards printed. Sometimes the pane

"Henry Ward Beecher nearly always has his cards printed. Sometimes the name of friends who accompany him are written on the back. Nobody ever tries to decipher on the back. Nobody ever tries to decipaer it.

"Mayor Grace writes a clear hand, but forgets to dot his 'i's' and cross his 'c's."

"Representative Randall, when he leaves his card case at home, writes his name on a blank slip in a clear, running hand. Everybody can read it.

"Vice President Hendricks, when he calls, writes 'The Vice President' on a card. It takes him some time to do it. Then it can be read easily. Even if he didn't write clearly we would know what it was, because he never changes the wording.

"Senator Gorman dashes off 'Arthur Gorman and friends' casily and quietly. He writes a legible, although a careless, hand. "Senator McDonald has not been to the white house much, and he always brings printed cards.

A Personal Explanation. EDITOR NATIONAL REPUBLICAN: During th school discussion of last winter I wrote for your paper several articles. I was opposed to the harsh treatment which I knew many teachers had received, and which I myself had receive d had received, and which I myselfhad receive d I took part in the controversy without any possible personal spin, and merely from a conviction that the teachers should be protected. I wrote my communication without any fear, ready to substantiate every assertion. The most important communications had my name signed in full.

I have since been told that the teachers have construed my action as against them. I sincerely regret that such a thought should come to the mind of any one. I am the teachers friend. All my communications were written in their defense. I am entirely opposed to the extensive and unreasonable dismissais which seem about to take place in one division. Nor can I admit that the dismissai of any number of teachers by a trustee, or that any harsh treatment of teachers by a trustee, logically follows, as it is asserted, from the fact that I aboved for a change of the school superintendent.

Innoved for a change of the school superintendent.

I have also received much abuse for having supplied a certain Sunday paper with various articles about the schools and the school superintendent. I published a denial of this assertion in the Washington Feet of Nov. 1, 1884. I wish again to deny most positively that I ever wrote dictated, suggested, or controlled one word that ever appeared in any Sunday paper about the schools or the school superintendent. I am willing to assume the entire responsibility of what I wrote, but I am unwilling to allow a man to make it generally believed that I wrote what I did not write. Respectfully,

THE MARKETS.

Greater Interest in Stock Transactions Wheat Fluctuating, and Closed at an Advance in Price.

New York, June 18,-The stock market to-day, as measured by the number of shares bought and sold, was not more active than yesterday, but there was a much better suppesterday, but there was a much better supply of rumors and greater interest was taken in the transactions. The leading features in to-day's market may be said to be the strength of the Vanderbilts and the weakness of Laekawanna. At the opening this morning the market was weak, and prices yielded from \(\frac{1}{2} \) to \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent, ied by Union Pacific, Pacific Mail, and New York Central, while Laekawanna declined 1 per cent. The lowest prices of the day were made at this time. Between 11 and 12 o'clock there was a raily of \(\frac{1}{2} \) to \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent, the strongest stocks being Lake Shore, which advanced \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent, New York Central and Lackawanna each \(\frac{1}{2} \), and Union Pacific and New Jersey Central each 1. The market closed steady at a little below the best prices of the day. To this rule Lackawanna was an exception by declining \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent, before 2 o'clock, but it regained most of the loss in the last hour.
